Problem Statement -

Make a user-friendly application that can be used by the Leather stores in Dharavi to enlist their products and sell them via an e-commerce portal. It will also help to manage the stocks in the shop. It will help store transactional data between sellers and buyers and also help them to reach out to new customers. Which will enhance their sales.

The table “products” will store the name, price, stock, etc. which can be easily queried based on the regular selling of leather products by the leather stores. There is an admin portal which is used to update the stock form stores, this admin panel will have the following options regarding the addition of products obtained from the store:

- Add new products :

This will add new products to the database when the store has to product to display. Here they will input their data about stock, price, tax, etc.

- Update stock of the existing products:

This will be called when to update stock information about the product. This includes updating the database with the new stock information.

- Remove discontinued products:

this will be called when the stock of the product is finished or the products are discontinued.

The table “customers” will contain the delivery address of the customers along with their contact details and order details. This address will be used to analyze the market and purchasing power of the area. Also this customer data is used to do the market research. The admin panel will have all the insights of the customer-related information – like the amount of purchase made, personal information.

About Customers we keep First Name, Last Name, Password, DOB, Address, Phone No. now this customer can browse through the products list. Now every product has got its attributes as size, category, prize, stock, productId, name.

4. Now this product is supplied by the supplier and their details are stored and used to contact them. Their attributes are name, phone, supplier Id, Address, price.

5. Now once the customer adds products to his cart which is the list of products and price, type, availability, productId, quantity is stored under every customer cart. Now once the shopping and browsing is done customer places order.

6. Now in Order we maintain these attributes – category, price, discount, payment, date, quantity, order Id. Now once the order is final, the customer makes the payment and he can pay through different payment options like COD, UPI, Credit Card, Debit Card, Net Banking, Wallets.

7. Once the payment is successful the order is shipped using our logistics which maintains address, charges, order Id, name, phone no, and now they provide these details to the carrier which delivers the product and maintains the name, carrier Id, charges, phone no.

8. For logistics we have a portal that is used by the logistics company. Once an order is placed our system automatically assigns a logistics company according to the location of delivery.

9. Logistics have one portal where once the order is assigned to them, they can view these essential details for delivery and they will assign the carrier to the order.

10. Carrier has an app which gets the prompt of the assigned order. They can come to the store to take the product and delivery it to the respective address.

11. Now admin manages customer, logistics, carriers, and suppliers for their operations and they have the web portal. Admin has attributes such as email, password, name, salary, post.

12. The main page is designed and filled with some lucrative and attractive products also displays products with offers. For these we manage a list of products to update on the main page which includes products, category, priority, offers, images.

The screenshot shows a database query interface. At the top, there is a code editor with the following SQL query:

1 SELECT * FROM products WHERE instock = false

Below the code editor is a results table. The table has three columns: Productid, Title, and Description. There is one row of data:

Productid	Title	Description
102	GUY LAROCHE DETAIL METAL PLATE LEATHER BACKPACK	Guy Laroche proudly brings you the tan genuine leather backpack. This backpack is stylish in every sense.

At the bottom left of the results table, it says "1 Results". At the top right of the interface, there are two buttons: "Save" and "Run".

Transaction -

A database transaction is a logical unit of processing in a DBMS which entails one or more database access operations. In a nutshell, database transactions represent real-world events of any enterprise.

So, we used it when a user places an order. Because, we have to carry out various operations on databases like adding it to orders table, order details table, decreasing the stock of that product, and also deleting it from the cart. So we figured it out that transaction is the best thing to use here. We want either all of these to happen or none of these.
